DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING

QUEEN'S PRINTER'S OFF

OTTAWA, J

TO THE HON. W. H. MONTAGUE, M. D., &C,

Secretary of State.

SIR, —

I have the honour to present herewith an Electoral Atlas for the seven provinces of the Dominion of Canada, as they are now divided for the election of members to the House of Commons. The North-west Territories are not included, as they are under special Acts applicable to them alone.

The need of such an Atlas was felt as soon as the revision of the voters' lists commenced last autumn; for the Redistribution Acts of 1892 and 1893 had altered the boundaries of many of the electoral divisions and created some new ones, to which new revising officers had been appointed. In some of the new divisions questions arose as to boundaries, and application was made to this Department for maps to serve as guides to the new revising officers. It then became apparent that none of the maps of the Dominion in general use had been prepared with any reference to the electoral divisions under Dominion Acts. With Nova Scotia and New Brunswick there was no difficulty, because the old territorial divisions are still conterminous with the present electoral divisions. The last statute redivided Prince Edward Island, British Columbia and Manitoba on new lines. In the case of Quebec and Ontario previous redistribution Acts concurred with those of 1892 and 1893 to create federal electoral divisions which correspond neither with the original counties nor with the recent divisions made by the local legislatures for electoral purposes. The maps extant are either the old atlases, coloured according to the old county lines, or the newer maps made by the local governments, and these last are, of course, coloured to show the local constituencies. At every succeeding census the divergence must become greater with the constant changes in the density of population incident to new countries. The absence of maps to show the divisions of the Dominion electorate thus became very inconvenient, and permission was obtained to prepare the present Electoral Atlas somewhat upon the lines of one drawn up for the redistribution of New South Wales. The postal maps were taken as a basis, and the draughtsman of that department, Mr. Maingy, was good enough to assist by correcting proofs and by adding the new post offices. Proofs of the maps were sent also to the respective revising officers, most of whom very kindly aided by criticisms and suggestions.

This Atlas will, it is hoped, be found sufficiently detailed for all practical purposes. To have shown the roads would have been a very costly work involving long labour—to have shown the polling divisions would have rendered the maps misleading as each officer divided his district anew, a process which is continually going on at every revision. The postal routes are shown as on the postal maps and other information can be added in future editions if the present work is approved.

The maps are laid down upon zinc plates which are the property of the Government and are available for use at any future time when questions of redistribution arise. On such occasions it is thought that maps of the districts to be affected would, if attached to bills, materially aid in clearing up and shortening discussion.

Although the polling divisions could not be given they may easily be drawn upon the maps by revising officers or others, for election purposes. The paper will admit of the use of ink, and some of the revisers have drawn for their own use in red ink the lines of their polling divisions on copies of the proofs sent them for inspection.

It is sincerely hoped that this first attempt at giving a clear view of the new electoral divisions of the Dominion of Canada, may meet with your approval and that of Parliament, and be of service to the electors generally.

While compiling the Atlas it seemed advisable to assemble, side by side for comparison, the more important facts bearing upon electoral questions in Canada. This has been done in the appended table. Those interested in such calculations may here at one glance compare the popu-

This has d in such the population with the electorate and with the actual voting number at the last preceding election; and the completion of the revision of the voters' lists now permits the insertion of the numbers of the actual electorate which will decide the next election. The population given on each separate map is calculated for the area of the existing district as there shown. When the figures could not be readily ascertained from the printed census, recourse was had to the Dominion Statistician, Mr. George Johnson, who kindly supplied the requisite information.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

S. E. DAWSON,
Queen's Printer.
